U.F.A. Annual Convention.

Large Attendance and Considerable Enthusiasm Mark Proceedings.

The annual constituency convention of the Didsbury U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. was held here on Thursday of last week in the Opera House. There was a large attendance and much interest was evinced by those present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, F. G. Brown, who also acted as chairman of the day.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Auditors' report showed over $90 cash on hand; report read by W. Scheidt. Secretary-treasurer's report, read by J. S. Earle, showed receipts for the past year were $501.06 and expenditures $409.44, mostly campaign expenses.

W. J. Scheidt, as chairman of credentials' committee, moved to hold an open convention, which carried. Mrs. H. A. Wood and F. Spaulding drew up the order of business.

Speaks on Weeds

A. B. Claypool, M.L.A., gave a lengthy address touching on various government activities. In connection with weed control, he said their plan was to educate the farmers as to the best methods of fighting weeds, and for this purpose have put 17 trained men in the field. He said Alberta had the reputation of being the cleanest province in Canada, and it should retain that record. He showed how the provinces lose annually between seven and eight million dollars through weeds.

Regarding immigration, he censured the present system of bringing people here at an expense which is being done by the railroads. He thought more people were needed, but of a better type. He commended Mr. Greenfield's work in Great Britain along this line, and also told how the past premier was working up trade between Canada and the mother country, citing as instances the use of Canadian flax for Irish linen mills, and barley raised here for English malting purposes.

Agriculture Schools

The speaker commended the agricultural schools for their courses in co-operative marketing. In the past their efforts have been confined to growing bigger yields, but the time has now come for them to study better methods of merchandising.

He thought municipal expenses could be cut down by uniting about every four districts without spoiling their present efficiency.

Mr. Claypool satisfactorily explained why the gas and motor taxes were added to the general fund instead of Masonic Lodge Pays Fraternal Visit.

Accompanied by about sixty brethren of the Masonic Order, the officers of King George Lodge, Calgary, paid King Hiram Lodge, Didsbury, a fraternal visit on Tuesday of last week, the trip being made by auto. Included among the visitors there were three D.D.G.M.s and one P.D.D.G.M. Among the brethren representatives of no less than sixteen lodges were present. The third degree was exemplified, and the work, very impressive in its character, fully sustained the reputation which the city lodge enjoys, and deservedly evoked the hearty commendation of the local lodge.

Following their work in the lodge-room, an adjournment was made to the Oddfellows' Hall, where a splendid repast had been prepared by the members of the Eastern Star. The tables were beautifully decorated for the occasion, potted plants and cut flowers, among which a choice selection of sweet peas predominated, forming a centerpiece that was at once gay and attractive, and with the delicious food provided conveyed immediately the impression that some master mind had been at work. At intervals there followed songs, recitations, toasts, etc., the program concluding shortly after midnight.

DIDSBURY SCHOOLS.

The Didsbury schools will re-open on Thursday, September 1st, at 9 a.m.

In order that consideration may be given to their requirements, intending High School students who have not previously attended public or high school in Didsbury, are advised to forward to the principal of the High School a list of credits already obtained.

The principal will be at the school each morning or can be seen by appointment by telephoning No. 146, the residence of Mr. W. T. Pitt.

RUGBY NOTES.

A most successful course on "Millinery" was given our W.I. this week by Mrs. Nye, of the Dept. of Agriculture, Edmonton. There was an average attendance of 18, in spite of bad weather and slippery roads, for as usual the weatherman was most contrary.

The hats made were many and varied and reflect great credit on both demonstrator and makers; indeed, hereafter the milliners of New York and Paris will have to be content to take second place.

being ear-marked for road building.

After his remarks a resolution was passed endorsing the government in this action and also one endorsing the weed elimination policy. Mr. Claypool was tendered thanks for his good work both in the legislature and on the livestock committee.

High School Changes

The next resolution, concerning changes in the high school system, evoked lively discussion. They finally passed the following: "That high school pupils be given a percentage of credit for work done throughout the year, the same to be added to the marks obtained in the final examinations."

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, F. G. Brown; vice-president, L. B. Hart; director at large, W. Scheidt; directors for the four districts, No. 1, Mrs. Harry Braden and James Gordon; No. 2, Mrs. Abner Wills and J. S. Earle; No. 3, Mrs. H. W. Wood and F. H. Spaulding; No. 4, Mrs. George Haag and Mr. Irwin.

A vote of thanks was tendered the ladies of Didsbury local for the repasts provided, and an invitation accepted from Mrs. H. W. Wood to meet at Carstairs next year.

"No, no, dear Mrs. St. John, I never tell. See, I say my words." She held up her hand solemnly:—"Cherish health; seek truth; know God; serve others. Now, you see! I swear!"

Greatly wondering and distressed, Helmi went swiftly on her way. The address led her to the north end of the city, where, leaving the car line, she went down a narrow old street where second-hand stores spilled their ruined wares all over the street. Dirt and dust, wounds and scratches were so thick on everything, Helmi shuddered with the thought that all the owners were dead and didn't care. Would her dear lovely lady's beautiful chaperon and window hangings ever come to this?

The number Helmi sought was on a building that had been painted recently. The name was on the door in gold and red—foreign looking letters, with many sharp points.

Inside people were eating at narrow tables covered with white oil cloth, and all the waiters were Chinese. To one of them she went and asked for Sam. She was too distressed to be frightened.

"Upstairs," he said, "outside."

An outside door, opened on a flight of dull gray, greasy stairs, which creaked and groaned as Helmi swiftly ascended them. She found herself in a dark passage at the top of the stairs, where dismal curtains of dingy brown obscured the rooms beyond. Fear held her then, and for a moment she stood irresolute.

"Sam," she called, "Oh, Sam!"

A face like a yellow pumpkin peered through the curtains at her.

"Whatchawan?" it breathed.

Helmi held out the five-dollar bill. "For a lady," she said, "she is very sick."

Sam nodded. He pulled a curtain back, with a setting of rings, and said, "Wait here!"

Helmi entered a room whose air sickened her. It was so strangely cold and dead, a sort of embalmed air which would never yield to sunshine. And although it was a very still room, everything she looked at seemed to writhe with a secret motion. A huge black glittering jar stood on the table in front of her, and coiled around it was a red snake with its head lifted, ready to strike. Helmi would have sprung back but it held her with its cruel shining eyes, and although she knew its tongue would dart out like a red hot needle she could neither move nor scream! Then she saw it was not a real snake at all, and that there were many of them in the room. They writhed around the great bowls that stood on a shelf above her head, and gave her the unpleasant feeling that they might blow any minute and come down. A bowl of goldfish made the only friendly spot in the room as they darted and turned and dove, catching a little gleam of light from the sky-light over head, but even they looked pale and dying as if their water had never been changed. Panels of embroidery were on the wall—crimson and gold and blue—stiff with peacocks and serpents and strange birds that she had never seen. One of the panels was of pale blue satin, on which stood out blood-red flowers. Helmi touched them wonderingly, and then looked at her finger-tips.

The old man came in with a little box, which he handed to her gravely. His ghastly yellow hands had claw-like nails that seemed to twist around her hand as she took it.

"You nice little girl—you come see pretty things—old Sam show you—maybe."

Helmi stared without comprehending, at his toothless gums and ghastly hands. "I'm in a hurry," she said, as she started for the door.

Just at that moment the outside door opened quietly and steadily steps came up the stairs, one, two, three—then the stairs swarmed.

When Helmi reached the hall she found herself held by a tall, bulky policeman. The Shanghai Chor Suey House, long suspected by the police, was undergoing a raid.

CHAPTER VII.

The newspapers the next morning carried startling headlines:

"Sensational raid on a downtown opium den! Young white girl found in possession of the drug; refuses to reveal identity! Appears to understand no English! Spent the night in police cells."

The neighbors all were very sorry for Miss Moore when it became known it was her Helmi—the girl to whom she had been so kind that had found in the Chinese den. They were sorry too, for Mrs. St. John, who really was very badly over it. "And that's the worst of the girl telling Miss Moore she was going for a lesson! she had been so good to the girl, too—really, it is too bad; but what can one expect from these foreigners with their standards so low?"

This was from the lady next door.

The minister and his sister called, the sister almost hysterical. "My dear!" cried the latter opening the door without knocking, as one would do if the house were on fire, "you might all have been murdered in your beds with an addict in the house! It is just another instance of God's protecting care. And to think you never knew she had the habit!"

Miss Moore sat down and leaned heavily on her broom. "I never saw a girl who loved work like Helmi," she said. "Surely a bad girl would not love work like that. But she deceived me—I cannot get over that. She made me think she was getting lessons from Mrs. St. John, and when I missed her that night and wondered about her, for she was always in time to get tea, I phoned Mrs. St. John, who was sick in bed and hadn't seen Helmi at all. Then I asked Mrs. St. John about it, and I got it out of her that Helmi hadn't been coming for quite a while. That has been a terrible blow to me. Now, where was she when we thought she was over there?"

The minister's brows were contracted and his eyes narrowed. "I am going to see Helmi," he said suddenly.

His sister was about to remonstrate, but the thin-lipped expression of his face froze even her voluble speech. Edward was so obstinate sometimes, she told Miss Moore when he went out.

He went across the road and rang the bell. "Yes, Mrs. St. John is at home, but she can't see anyone, she is very much upset over the Finnish girl." The maid's eyes were red.

"What do you think?" he asked her.

"She helped me every day, and sang Finn songs, and was so happy—she couldn't be a bad girl, Sir."

The maid evidently believed there was a relationship between happiness and goodness. Here again was evidence of Helmi's love of work.

"Tell Mrs. St. John I called." He gave her his neatly engraved card.

Reverend Edward Terry.

Young Methodist Church.

"I hope you can get her off, Sir, she's only seventeen," said the maid anxiously.

"I hope so, too. I believe she is an innocent girl."

Mr. Terry sought the Police Court, but found that he could not see the prisoner, no one could see her until after the case was heard. From the matron he found out that Helmi was the only person arrested in the raid, and the most serious aspect of the case now was that she had resisted arrest and knocked Inspector Watt down the stairs.

The minister went to the magistrate's office to see if he could not obtain permission to see Helmi. After all, he was her minister.

Magistrate Windsor, a gray-haired, florid-faced old man, sat behind an oak desk and glared at his visitor from under bushy eyebrows. The minister had sent in his card.

"Well, Sir," said His Worship, testily, "What can I do for you? Sit down, please, you wait."

Mr. Terry took the round-backed, well-worn chair, vaguely conscious of the many anxious supplicants who had interviewed this fery looking old official. "I am interested in the case of this young Finnish girl who is here under arrest," he said. "She attended my church."

The magistrate's face grew redder; his eyebrows bristled. "She's a young woman, that girl," he said. "One of our inspectors is laid up with a broken arm. You should see our ministerial efforts were not very successful in her case, Parson."

World's Smallest Books

Twenty-Nine Minute Masterpieces Exhibited At London Library

What is probably the world's smallest book was to be seen in London recently. It contains over forty blank pages bound between embossed leather covers. Four of its size would not cover a penny, yet every detail is perfect and clearly visible without the aid of a lens. This miracle of the bookbinder's art was one of twenty-nine such marvels exhibited at the London Library; the entire collection could have been contained in an ordinary cigar box.

Among these minute masterpieces was a copy of "Galileo" measuring half inch by a quarter inch, which is claimed to be the smallest Italian book set from movable type. More wonderful still was a handwritten copy of the Koran found some time ago in Bagdad. Written in Indian ink on faded paper, this book is octagonal in shape, with one of its eight sides forming the back where the leaves are joined. This curious manuscript is perfectly legible despite the fact that a half-crown would cover it.

A Bible measuring one and a half inches square, and a volume of Dante half inch smaller, seemed giants in this Lilliputian library. A New Testament about one-fifth of a square inch in area that was kept, like some precious jewel, in a handsome plush case, was so clearly printed that one could read the title and headings without difficulty. Another Bible, in red leather covers less than one inch square, was fitted with a tiny magnifying glass through which one could admire the delicate work of the type and illustrations.—The Bits.

Not Made In Canada

Patriotic Buttons To Commemorate Confederation Ordered From United States

A Sunday School of the United Church was very loyal to Canada.

It had a celebration in honor of the 60th Anniversary of Confederation, and presented a patriotic button to each scholar. The button was emblematic of the Anniversary, and inside, it named the giver—that is the United Church.

But—There was a microscopic lettering—and it read, "Made in U.S.A."

Are there not button manufacturers in Canada?

Could not these buttons have been made in Canada?

Can we imagine a button made for "Independence Day" across the line bearing in small type the legend, "Made in Canada?"

Joined In Welcome

In referring to the visit of the Princes and Premier Baldwin to Canada, the New York Times said editorially: "America joins cordially in welcoming these Royal and disinclined guests as they touch her borders. If they had come one hundred and fifty years ago they might have dissuaded us from independence by their reasonableness, their common sense and charm."

A Man of Rare Professional Attainment

The originator of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was the late Dr. J. C. Pierce, M.D. At first he practiced medicine in Western Pennsylvania and his unusual ability and success were soon recognized there, then he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary where his famous home remedies have ever since been made.

Each succeeding year the sale of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been greatly increased. Evidently people appreciate the fact that it increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, helps to enrich the blood, clears the skin of eruptions and blemishes, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young. It contains no harmful ingredient.

MISTAKES MOTHERS MAKE IN CARE OF LITTLE ONES

Many mothers give their children solid foods at too early an age and say proudly that their babies "eat everything that grown-up people do." Such a course is almost certain to bring on indigestion and lay the foundation of much ill-health for the little one.

Other mothers administer harsh, nauseating purgatives which in reality irritate and injure the delicate stomach and bowels and at the same time cause the children to dread all medicine.

Absolutely safe and effective even to a child until it reaches the age of 18 months, and then only if approved by the doctor. For medicine, all strong, disagreeable oils and powders should be abandoned and Baby's Own Tablets given instead.

Baby's Own Tablets are especially made for little ones. They are pleasant to take and can be given with absolute safety to even the newborn babe. They quickly banish constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make the cutting of teeth easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A drug called santonin, which has the strange effect of making a person see yellow, has been discovered by a Scottish scientist.

Mothers Should Use

When The Babies Are Cutting Teeth

During the baby's teething time, in the hot summer months, the bowels become loose and diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and other bowel complaints manifest themselves; the gums become swollen, cankers form in the mouth, and in many cases the child wastes to a shadow, and very often the termination is fatal.

This is the time when the mother should use "Dr. Fowler's," and, perhaps, save the baby's life.

It has been on the market for the past 80 years; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SICK ABED EIGHT MONTHS

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Could Do All Her Work and Gained in Weight

Melfort, Saskatchewan.—"I had inward troubles, headaches and severe pains in my back and sides. I was so sick generally that I could not sit up and I was in bed most of the time for eight months. An aunt came to visit and help me as I was unable to attend to my baby and could not do my work. She told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking two bottles I could get up and dress myself. I also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine. When I first took the medicine I only weighed seventy-eight pounds. Now I weigh twice as much. If I get out of sorts or weary and can't sleep I always take another bottle of the Vegetable Compound. I am wonderfully good for female troubles, and have recommended it to my neighbors. I will be only too glad to answer any letters I receive asking about it."—Mrs. WILLIAM HERRING, Box 486, Melfort, Saskatchewan.

Hidden Treasure of Bon Echo

Central Photo—Scene at Bon Echo. The highest cliff is the "Big Rock" where the silver treasure cave is supposed to be located. Upper inset—Looking down from the cliffs of Bon Echo. Lower inset—Typical scene at Bon Echo.

While the very atmosphere of Bon Echo, one of the most popular summer resorts in the Highlands of Ontario, breathes of romance in many ways, there is nothing to tell of the desperation with which men sought to wrest a secret hoard of silver from the great rocky walls that rise like ramparts from the blue waters of the upper and lower Mazinaw.

There is a host of legends about the lost fortune of silver but the story that is most generally accepted is that it was bullion brought out of the district by the Indians and used in exchange for blankets, axes, whiskey and firearms and that they had stored much silver in a cave in the cliffs. The story goes that one John Myers, who kept a store at Myersville, often exchanged goods for the Indians' silver, but could never discover where the cache actually was. His son, however, was brought up with the Indians and, supplying them with whiskey, induced them to take him to the spot. The three of them went up the Moira River from Myersville to Loon Lake and across country to Bon Echo. Somewhere on top of the cliff they came upon two flat stones. By forcing these stones in opposite directions they discovered an opening about twelve inches in diameter, through which Myers forced himself. What the flame from his pine-pitch torch disclosed is doubtful, but there was silver in some form, so it is told, and immense quantities of it. Filling his pockets and a small bag with the treasure, the adventurer made mental note of the location and commenced the return journey.

The lake was rough and the remains of the whiskey were lost. The two Indians, sobered by their wetting, became sorry for this action and fearful of the vengeance of their tribe. In an attempt to dispose of Myers, they upset the canoe and lost their own lives, while the survivor made a painful way back alone to Myersville, when he soon succumbed to pneumonia. Myers left a map and description of the location, and it is his map which up till quite recent years has led men to waste their years and substance on the supposed treasure of Bon Echo.

In 1860, George Merrill, grandfather of the present operator of Bon Echo Inn, Merrill Dennison, well known writer, and one John Bull, were among the first to make an attempt to wrest the secret from the Rock. Coming to the foot of the cliff which marks the jointure of the upper and lower Mazinaw Lakes, Bull took the southern face, while Merrill worked in the opposite direction, and is said to be the only man to ever see the cave again. Fearing however, that as Bull had once killed a man, his life would not be safe if his secret were known, he kept it to himself, and later the two men left, one discouraged and the other hoping to return again. He did return, but the great forest fires had so changed the topography of the top of the rock, that he was unable to locate the silver for a second time.

Later, a man named Van Asselstein becoming possessed of the map, mortgaged two excellent farms on the Kingston Road, and spent fourteen years prospecting on the rock to no avail. Then in 1911, two partners, Sills and Scott, were told by a spiritualist, the famous Anna Eva Fay, that they would find a hatchet dropped near the spot by John Myers. They spent over two thousand dollars (all they possessed) in the search, and sure enough found a rusty axe-head with the initials J. M. stamped upon it, but they found nothing else.

Bon Echo, with its ideal holidaying facilities, and its treasure romance, lies a short motor drive from the Canadian Pacific Railway Station, Kaladar, on the Montreal-Toronto line.

ALONG THE NORTH-ERN TRAIL.

It is in the mind of many of us who have accepted Alberta as our home during the last twenty years, that the comfort of travelling by auto today was something that was not even dreamed of at an earlier period. Then, a trip to Edmonton by road, especially by auto, was an event in one's life to be remembered and it was only undertaken after much speculation as to the state of the roads and the probabilities of the weather. Increased auto traffic, however, and the consequent improvement in roads has wrought a change that, for a young province, is remarkable.

Edmonton is now within easy reach of anyone having a car, and possibly for that reason has to a certain extent lost its glamour for those of a more adventurous turn of mind.

"The path of Empire" now leads north, and year by year the northern part of Alberta is attracting increased attendance, and for those who scorn the beaten track there is much to be discovered and noted.

The Peace River country especially is being hailed with delight by many, and a few weeks spent up there has proved a revelation. Of its rivers and lakes, its big variety of game, its timber, minerals and agricultural prospects, not one-half has been told, and only when one hears of it first hand does its immense possibilities seem to be appreciated.

Cold Lake, for instance, situated roughly 250 miles north-east of Edmonton, is a body of water about 28 miles long, and according to Dr. Clark, who has just returned from there, it is a veritable paradise for fishermen. The doctor, who was accompanied there by his father from Vermillion, states there is a good hotel at the lake and a motor launch can be procured at a reasonable figure. A number of cottages have also been built, occupants of which come from as far south as California. The lake teems with fish, principally jack fish, white-fish and trout, a specimen of the latter recently caught weighing 38 pounds.

Mrs. Clark accompanied the doctor as far as Edmonton and after spending a short time in that city with friends, continued the journey to Vermillion, where she remained until the return of her husband from Cold Lake.

The country up there is in an interesting stage of development, at present peopled in places largely by nationalities of Russian or French-Canadian origin. New districts are now being opened up, and near Frog Lake the doctor noticed a new railway grade being laid.

At Mundare, east of Edmonton, there are two large churches, exceedingly well built, one Roman Catholic and the other the Greek Church. There is also a nunnery. The town has a population of about 1,000, and has a thriving appearance. The country around is settled mostly by Russians.

CONVICTION QUASHED

On Friday, the 12th day of August, A.D. 1927, an Order was made by the Chief Justice of Alberta in the case of Rex vs. Henry Erb quashing the conviction made against him for assault and also the recognizance to keep the peace and all the other proceedings had before J. W. Phillipson, Justice of the Peace. This conviction was made on the 25th day of June A.D. 1927, and Mr. Erb was committed to jail until his bondsmen came to his relief and entered into recognizance for the term of one year. The result of this Order is that the whole proceedings including the conviction and this bond has been wiped out and Mr. Erb has been finally released.

Forgotten Culvert Saves $1000.

Councillor Barrett informs us a considerable sum of money has been saved the town by a discovery made near the Creamery. It will be remembered the slough at the south end of town has for some years been a source of annoyance and up to the present it has been somewhat of a problem to know how to dispose of the surplus water accumulating there. A few weeks ago it was decided to excavate a ditch and carry the water west and then south to the coulee. This would have involved an expenditure of about $1500. Deep down in the subconscious mind of one of our residents, however, was the recollection of an old culvert near the Creamery, which some years ago was covered over and then forgotten. This fact recently came to light and advantage will now be taken of the opportunity it affords and the culvert will be utilised for the purpose of draining the slough into the coulee without the necessity of expensive excavation. The whole operation will only cost about $25.

Here and There

The fourth Eastern International Dog Derby to be held from Quebec city February 21, 22 and 23, promises to be the most keenly contested ever held. It is expected that over 20 teams will be entered for the race.

Christmas tree shipments from Quebec to the United States ran to 450,000 over Canadian Pacific lines last year, and present expectation is that this number will be equalled at least this year. Revenue to farmers of the province from this source ran to $100,000 last year.

Four carloads of silver foxes, valued at $750,000, have left Prince Edward Island in one shipment for the Western States: Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Oregon and Washington. Viewed as a livestock shipment, it is said to be a record one. A number of prize winners were among the pack.

Dog teams will be used this winter by the Hudson's Bay-Marland organization to prosecute oil development work in the Ribstone field in North-eastern Alberta. This is the area where the quest for oil started following a favorable report by Dr. G. S. Hume, head of the Dominion Geological Survey.

Christmas travel over the Canadian Pacific routes to the Old Country has been heavier this year than ever before experienced. Special trains have been run from Winnipeg directly to the ship's side at Saint John, N.B. The westerners credit this heavy movement to England for Christmas to the excellent conditions that prevail throughout the west.

Canada To The Fore

Canada is certainly being kept well before the people of the British Isles this year and to a greater or less extent is calling for the attention of the people of the United States. The publicity the Dominion is receiving is of the best and most effective type and can hardly fail to be productive of results highly beneficial to the country.

The elaborate and wonderfully successful celebrations in connection with the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation focussed the attention of the Empire, and large sections of the United States, upon the Dominion and led to a study of its past history and the really marvellous development of the country during the past sixty years. Canada today is better known and appreciated not only by the people of Canada, but by the world. The story of its development and its future possibilities has been told far and wide and in such a way as to command the earnest attention and consideration of people of power and influence.

Following the Jubilee celebrations, the visit of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, Prince George, and Premier Baldwin has again kept Canada prominently before the people of Great Britain. The tour of these distinguished visitors has been followed with the keenest interest by the British press, and it is well within the bounds of probability that a very great stimulus will thus be given to British immigration to Canada.

The ceremonies attendant upon the dedication of the Metcalf Chamber in the Peace Tower at Ottawa by the Prince of Wales in their simple but impressive dignity could not fail to impress the British people. So, too, the unveiling of the statue of Sir Wilfrid Laurier who so nobly carried on the work of the Fathers of Confederation and who was always a commanding and popular figure in the eyes of Great Britain. Finally, the official inauguration of the Peace Bridge at Niagara attended by the heir to the British crown, the Premier of Great Britain, the Premier of Canada, the Vice-President of the United States, the Governor of New York, the Lieut. Governor of Ontario, and other high officials, provided a friendly meeting ground of the whole English-speaking family and provided an object lesson for all the nations of the world.

The present year has witnessed the placing of a Canadian Minister at Washington and an American Minister at Ottawa; it has revealed the expanding trade of Canada with the world; prosperity and decreased taxation at home; substantial reductions in the National debt; growth and development in all directions. Men of prominence in the life of Great Britain have visited Canada in increasing numbers, and at the present time proprietors of nearly one hundred influential British newspapers are touring the Dominion from coast to coast, seeking for themselves the possibilities of prosperity and laying up the untold possibilities of the future.

It is no idle boast to say that the Twentieth Century is Canada's century. But for the interruption of the Great War and the ensuing depression, and reconstruction rendered necessary by the war's destruction Canada would now be much farther along the road to the goal set for it when the century opened. It may well be, however, that the very conditions created in the Old World as a result of the war will have such far-reaching results in the movement of population that, in the long run, Canada will from the standpoint of settlement and economic development more than make up for the lost war years.

Certain it is, the war made Canada known to the world as nothing else could have done. Through war Canada found its own soul, realized its own capacity for achievement, developed its productive and financial strength, proved its ability to solve difficult problems and handle great enterprises. Now, in its Jubilee year, the Dominion is feeling the pulse of a reawakened National spirit, and is enjoying the fruits of an era of marked expansion in all lines of national endeavor.

The effect is everywhere noticeable throughout the Dominion and the Canadian people are fortunate in that the facts of Canada's growth, development and potential wealth are being investigated by the Old World as never before, and the story told to the millions by their own leaders following personal visits to this country. Canada can realize greatness to the full extent that her citizens are prepared to strive for and by service and effort bring to fruition.

Motor Casualties Increase

Daily Toll Of Accidents Has Become Appalling

Notwithstanding all the warnings and regulations intended to ensure the safety of those who use the roads, the daily toll of accidents is appalling and the total casualty roll must be something enormous. The majority of these accidents are preventable, and the worst feature about many of them is that it is so often not the victim who is to blame. The fool driver could be excused more readily if he were the only person whose life he endangers, but frequently it is the innocent party who suffers most when the speed fiend is abroad.

Quota Law Is Needed

Immigration From Central Europe To Canada Should Be Limited

Last May 22,000 immigrants were admitted to Canada. Only 5,000 were British born. So nearly two-thirds of the new settlers were of non-British races.

What is going to happen to Canada if our Immigration Department is allowed to continue that policy? With the experience of the United States before us, we seem to be bent on committing national suicide.

The greatest need of Canada is a quota law that will limit the flood of Central Europeans, and encourage the British and Nordic races to come to this Dominion. The Sentinel, Toronto.

Open Season For Elks

Open season for elks during which a hunter may take one adult male animal, has been declared in Saskatchewan. Sixteen days, from November 15 to November 30, inclusive, will constitute the first open season which has been allowed since 1913. The step has been taken, according to the game commissioner's report, because of the large increase in the numbers of these animals in the last few years.

"Pedal Propelling" Boat 0001 Refused To Function

Useless and Trip Across Atlantic Has Been Abandoned

Confessing that the idea of "pedal propelling" across the Atlantic is a failure, Edward Tierney and Dick Hayman, of Lancashire, are understood to have definitely abandoned the plan to make such a crossing and to be ready to sell their strange craft.

Tierney tested the boat, called the "Carrie," in the harbor and was dismayed to find she refused to function. After repeated attempts he said: "The craft is useless. She has a bad list and leaks badly. The pedal propelling idea is a failure."

"Carrie" is a 12-foot steel boat built like a submarine. She has a beam of three feet and draws two feet of water. She was designed to obtain power mainly through the force of the wind against a small windmill which drives a screw propeller. In calm weather the navigators were to use muscle power to drive the propeller by means of foot or hand pedals. When the plans were made, Tierney and Hayman said they hoped to make the crossing in forty days.

Postpones South Pole Trip

Commander Byrd Decides Details Cannot Be Arranged This Year

After careful consideration of the danger involved in a hasty preparation for his expedition to the South Pole, Commander Richard E. Byrd has announced that the undertaking would be postponed until 1923. Previously, while in Paris he had expressed the hope that he could make his start this fall.

It was explained that Commander Byrd expected to encounter severe storms and conditions which would make a mishap of any kind almost surely fatal.

RETAIN YOUR VIGOR

This Can Only Be Done by Keeping the Blood Rich and Red

If you would retain your vigor and ambition, keep your blood and nerves in good condition. As a result, your blood lowers the vitality, starves the nerves and causes a general run-down condition. When the blood is thin, the skin loses its color, the shoulders droop and weight is lost. The victim of anemic blood, suffers from indigestion, headaches and sleeplessness, and is nervous and exhausted after slight exertion. If you have any of these symptoms do not delay but begin treatment now with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and you will be gratified with the prompt improvement in your condition. Among the thousands who have found new health through the use of this medicine is Mrs. Herbert Naylor, Ludlow, N.B., who says: "I had not been feeling well for some time and was gradually growing weaker. I would take dizzy spells and often faint. I was unable to reverse headaches and found it hard to do my work. I took doctor's medicine for some time, but it did me no good and I was still growing weaker. In this condition I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in a short time found they were helping me. I continued the use of the pills until I felt stronger and found that the trouble that had bothered me was gone and I was once more a well woman."

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist's or write The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box.

Cougars Attack Sheep

Farmer On Cortez Island Had Entire Flock Wiped Out

Sheep owners on the east coast of Vancouver Island and adjacent islands have suffered heavily of late from losses by wild animals, one farmer on Cortez Island having had his entire flock wiped out by cougars. Cecil Smith, of Courtenay, paid a visit to the island and succeeded in killing three cougars, two of the big cats being shot at night by the light of a lamp. Two cougars were also killed by Mr. Smith on the same island a short time previously. There is a provincial bounty of $40 per head on cougars. In the Nanaimo and Oyster River districts bears are reported to have killed many sheep.

Death Of Noted Author

James Oliver Curwood Was Author Of Stories Of Canadian North

James Oliver Curwood, author of stories of the Canadian North, and noted conservationist, died at his home at Owosso, Mich., after an illness resulting from streptococcus infection which had confined him to his bed for one week.

Mr. Curwood was credited with being one of the foremost authorities on matters pertaining to the Canadian North West, and every year since he began his career as an author, in 1908, he passed several months in that territory frequently travelling as far north as the Arctic coast. He is said to have been the only American ever employed by the Canadian Government as an exploratory and descriptive writer.

Curwood's love for the outdoors motivated his life and his work as a novelist. He published 21 novels. "The Courage of Captain Plana," his first novel, was written in 1908, after he had spent seven years in newspaper work. Writing was in Curwood's blood. On his father's side he was descended from Captain Marsay, the novelist. He was born June 12, 1878, the son of James Moran and Abigail (Griffin) Curwood.

Held Breath Fourteen Minutes

College Man At Middletown, Conn., Breaks World's Record

E. L. Gaylor, Jr., of Cliftondale, Mass., a member of the senior class at Wesleyan, has broken the world's record for breath-holding by establishing a time of 14 minutes 2 seconds.

The previous mark was made at the University of California, in 1916, when 10 minutes 20 seconds was recorded.

Gaylor accomplished his feat by breathing excessively a short time before holding his breath to rid his blood of much of the carbon dioxide. To prepare himself further he concluded the process with three breaths of oxygen, the last of which he held for the record time.

Prof. E. J. Schneider of Wesleyan says the authenticity of the test can not be questioned, as a graphic record of chest and diaphragm motion over the entire period gave convincing evidence that at no time while the test was being made could air have been taken into the lungs.

Miller's Worm Powders were devised to promptly relieve children who suffer from the ravages of worms. To Occupy Marlborough House

Prince Of Wales To Change His Residence On Return To England

The Prince of Wales will change his residence from York house to Marlborough house almost immediately on his return from Canada. The work of reconditioning Marlborough house is now being accelerated so as to have the place ready for the Prince as soon as possible.

It is scarcely concealed that his royal highness does not altogether relish exchanging from his compact quarters at York house, which is within a stone's throw of Marlborough house, but the latter has so many associations with King Edward VII. In his day as heir apparent that it seems only fitting, now that King Edward's gracious consort, Queen Alexandra, is no more, that this historic residence should be occupied by the present heir to the throne.

Its Quality Sells It.—The fact that so many thousands of intelligent people continue to use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil speaks volumes for its healing efficiency. TENSE SITUATION IN CHINA OVER AVIATION POLICY

Shanghai.—In the midst of an increasing chaos in both the military and political situations in the Yangtze Valley, an incident arising out of the forced landing of a British military aeroplane on Chinese territory has developed a tense situation between the Chinese authorities and the British Expeditionary Force here.

Although the particular spot where the plane landed was held by Chinese soldiers and was the Kiangwan golf course, this land, nevertheless lies outside the international settlement of Shanghai. The Chinese authorities have repeatedly protested against British airmen flying over any and all Chinese territory, whether used by foreigners who play golf or by Chinese generals for manoeuvring.

Dr. C. C. Wu, Minister of Foreign Affairs for the Nanking Nationalist Government, announced that the Chinese intend to use the incident for a show-down in the matter of flights over Chinese territory.

"The British in the eyes of the Chinese and international law are criminals as regards their aviation policy in China," Dr. Wu said, adding that although the Chinese had not the force to meet British "imperialism" they intended to let the world know what the British were doing.

The aeroplane incident has resulted in British demands for the return of the wings of the plane, the only parts of the machine that a Royal Air Force detachment had not carried off to safety before Chinese troops arrived.

When the Chinese refused to restore the wings, Major-General John Duncan, the British commander ordered the railway between Shanghai, Hangchow and Ningpo to be cut south of Soochow Creek and British troops were posted at strategic points around the city, thus re-occupying the posts held by them during the troubles several months ago which followed the capture of Shanghai by the Nationalists.

Poultrymen Visit Edmonton

Trip Through West Proving Enjoyable and Educational

Edmonton.—Representing 18 different countries, 120 delegates from the World Poultry Congress, recently held at Ottawa, arrived at Edmonton, all mostly tired from long train journeys and anticipating a good rest in the city during the day.

Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, is one of the Poultry Congress tourist visitors who had not been before in Edmonton. He was a caller at the Parliament Buildings during the morning and compared notes for a short time with his Alberta running mate, Hon. George Hodgley.

A story of good crops all across Canada is told by the Ontario minister. In his own province the fruit yield is only fair, but grain and other crops are excellent, with a particularly noticeable increase in the acreage under tobacco, he said.

Mr. Martin was greatly struck with the appearance of the wheat fields along the railway between Saskatoon and Edmonton and liked the summer fallowing that he saw there and elsewhere in the West. The whole trip through the West is proving both enjoyable and educational, he says, not only to the members of the touring party who come from other countries but to Canadians, like himself, who are accompanying them.

Noted Artist Dead

London.—Richard Caton Woodville, English artist, known for his battle paintings, was found shot in his studio and died on the way to the hospital. He was born in London, January 7, 1856, and was educated in Germany. He exhibited his first picture in the Royal Academy in 1879, since which he has been represented annually. He painted several large pictures in Windsor Castle for the Queen. He also wrote articles on sport and travel.

Harvest Help Arriving

Large Quota From Eastern Canada and British Columbia

Winnipeg, Man.—The great tide of harvesters will soon be flowing over the prairies. Arrangements have been completed for the handling of the thousands who will come from Eastern Canada, according to officials of the Canadian National Railways, and there will be no delay in getting them to the points where they are most needed. British Columbia, which will send 6,000 this year has already begun its movement, 200 being on the way now from Vancouver and fifty from Victoria, and others will follow closely on their heels.

Eastern Canada will contribute 25,000 men to the harvest this year, it is estimated. Manitoba needs 9,000, and can get 6,000 locally; Saskatchewan asks for 40,000 of which half are available locally, and Alberta needs 18,000 of which 8,000 must come from outside the province. British Columbia has 6,000 available.

Alberta Coal For East

Outlook More Favorable For Shipments To Ontario This Fall

Toronto.—Following a conference here between Mayor Foster, Property Commissioner Chisholm of Toronto and Howard Stutchbury, trade commissioner of Alberta, the outlook becomes more optimistic for shipment to Toronto and Ontario generally of Alberta coal.

"As the railway commission is now considering the question of fixing rates on Alberta coal for shipment to eastern points we have every hope that we are going to get a rate this year," said Mr. Stutchbury, "and there is going to be a free movement of coal from Alberta to Ontario. The railway board, I expect, will make its findings before the end of the month and the Government will have to take action after that. We feel pretty certain that the finding will be satisfactory. I am basing that statement on the evidence submitted."

Wins Pacific Air Race

Art. Goebel, Hollywood Stunt Flyer, Takes First Prize

Wheeler Field, Honolulu.—Making a perfect landing at Wheeler Field, United States army aviation field 25 miles from Honolulu, the monoplane Woolaroo, piloted by Art. Goebel, Hollywood, Calif., stunt flier, landed here to win first prize of $25,000 in the Dole air derby from Oakland, Cal., the first of its kind ever held.

Nearly two hours later Martin Jensen, only Honolulu entrant, piloting the monoplane Aloha, descended amid the thousands of spectators at the field, winner of the $10,000 offered for second prize.

Entitled To Equal Favors

Canadians in U.S. Should Receive Advantages Offered To British Emigrants

Moncton, N.B.—"The movement which is afoot to bring British emigrants to Canada must not be accepted by us unless the same advantages which it is proposed to give those newcomers be also given to our own citizens now living in the United States and who are desirous of returning to their country of origin," was one of the outstanding statements made by the Hon. P. J. Veniot, at a public gathering which closed the first day's proceedings of the ninth French-Canadian congress held in this city.

Greetings Were Delayed

St. Paul, Minn.—Christmas greetings for 1926 are being received by about 200 friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jackson. Jackson found the bundle of unmailed cards under the seat of his automobile recently and dropped them in a mail box. He had carried them in the car since last December.

Bear Wrecks Sedan

Ashford, Wash.—A picnic party in Rainier National Park returned to their parked car after a short hike and found a large bear clambering onto the top. The top of the sedan gave way under the animal's weight and let it down into the tonneau, where it smashed its way to freedom. All of the car except the chassis was demolished.

HOW JOHN JINKS SAVED LIFE OF COSGRAVE GOVT.

Dublin.—John Jinks, who made his name a household one in Ireland by walking out of the Dail and saving the life of the Cosgrave Government by failing to record his vote, was neither kidnapped nor spirited away.

"I simply walked out of the Dail. I was neither kidnapped nor spirited away," Jinks said this evening. "For the sake of the stability of my constituents I thought it was better to retain the present Government."

Jinks thought the result of the division, which was in favor of the Cosgrave Government only by the narrow margin of one vote cast by the Speaker to break a tie, was a good thing for Ireland.

His action in failing to vote as his colleagues of the National League (Redmoorites) did—against the Government—is likely to result in his expulsion from his party.

The first suggestion that Mr. Jinks might have been kidnapped was contained in a despatch to The Evening Star from its Dublin correspondent, who said that Jinks supported the resolution to vote against the Government adopted at a party caucus recently, was in his place in the Dail Eireann an hour before the vote was taken, but then disappeared. Captain William Redmond, leader of the National League Party, was quoted in the despatch as expressing the opinion that Jinks' failure to vote with his colleagues must have resulted from his being spirited away, unless he had been overcome by a sudden illness.

Used Flashlight When Lighting Pant Failed

New York Doctor Forced To Perform Operation Under Difficulties

New York.—Mrs. Violet Moore, of Jersey City, is recovering from an operation for appendicitis performed by the light of an electric flashlight in a hospital during an electric storm.

The doctor had just administered the anaesthetic when a bolt of lightning extinguished every electric light in the hospital. Dr. Murtart, the surgeon, called for some sort of light and Miss Mary Reed, hospital superintendent, found a flashlight. For an hour and ten minutes the surgeon worked under its rays until the operation was completed. Mrs. Moore was taken from the operating room just as the electric light flashed on again.

Trade Treaty Signed

France and Germany Come To Agreement On Tariff

Paris.—France and Germany have placed their signatures on a commercial treaty, based largely on most favored nation tariffs, after three years of frequently interrupted negotiations.

It is a complex arrangement of several thousand clauses, effective September 6. By the treaty France will get better terms on agricultural products, textiles, shoes, machinery, toilet articles, and porcelain, while Germany will benefit on chemicals, machinery, electrical goods, cement and leather work. Most favored nation treatment will be applied for both sides by December 15, 1928, at the latest.

France won the long contested right to export a limited amount of wines to Germany on favorable terms.

Editors Touring Canada

British Party Will Cover Dominion From Coast To Coast

Montreal.—British newspaper owners and editors to the number of 90, members of the party which is touring Canada, arrived in Montreal from Quebec after completing a tour of the Maritimes and before returning to the Old Land will cover Canada from coast to coast.

"When we get back to Europe again, Canada's story will be told throughout the length and breadth of Great Britain," said John Sidney King, president of the British Newspaper Society. "After such a journey as this we can never again resist bringing in the name of Canada at every opportunity. Before we left, Canada to many of us, was just a patch of red on the map of the world. Now we are seeing its amazing proportions and developments for ourselves."

Turk Monument At Gallipoli

Turkish Government To Erect Memorial To Countrymen Who Perished In War

Gallipoli, Turkey.—The Turkish government is to erect a memorial on the heights of Gallipoli to the 100,000 Turks who perished in the Great War campaign there.

According to a member of the Construction Committee it will be of such proportions "that it will make existing monuments erected by the Allies seem no more than insignificant bits of stone."

It will be 132 feet high and $25,000 already has been appropriated by the Ministry of Defence for its construction.

BRITISH PREMIER TO PAY VISIT TO CANADA AGAIN

Halifax.—"We have loved every minute of our time. We are tired, of course, because we have worked hard," Premier Baldwin told the citizens of Halifax in his parting address. "I have given every minute of time I could spare to Canada, and when I am through with the duties of my present post I will come again," he added.

The addresses of welcome by the province and by the city were, said Mr. Baldwin, "steeped in the history of this continent and couched in language to warm the heart of an Englishman." The Prime Minister took exception to two words in addresses: Nova Scotia had called his visit a holiday and Halifax called it recreation. He felt as though he might have to go back to England to work in order to get a little rest.

On the chain of office worn by the mayor was the date 1749.

"I can almost remember that far back," said Mr. Baldwin. "As it is, I do remember that those were as gloomy and as depressing years as Great Britain ever passed through. And through those years this city stood as a sentinel. It was the one spot where the flag was never lowered and it is the spot where it will never be lowered so long as the flag flies anywhere. It was here that the Royalists came to take shelter—that magnificent stock, tried in every fire, which became the parents of this part of Canada, gave the very best to the life of the people of today."

"I read with great interest the report of the commission under the chairmanship of Sir Andrew Ross Duncan," the Premier continued. "I trust the result of that report may be to increase the prosperity of these provinces."

Estate Worth Thirty Million

Brothers and Sisters Of Arthur Walker Receive Large Share

New York.—The will of Arthur T. Walker, heir to the fortune of Edward F. Searles, Methuen, Mass., reclusive, leaves the bulk of his $30,000,000 estate to his four sisters and two brothers. The will, which was filed in Brooklyn, also provided a $200,000 bequest to Walker's secretary, E. L. Rudd. Mr. Walker, who was a native of Chatham, Ont., was buried in that city last Saturday.

Walker's secretary was bequeathed $75,000 in the original will dated Feb. 14, 1923, but in a codicil dated June 26, 1925, the amount was increased to $200,000.

The secretary was named sole executor without bond. There were numerous bequests ranging from $3,000 to $25,000 to friends.

Norwegian Emigrants Coming To Canada

Quota For U.S. Is Limited and Dominion Benefits

St. Paul, Minn.—Canada is getting the emigrants of Norway, Christian Anderson, an employee of the University of Minnesota agricultural school here, stated on his return from a visit to his native land.

"Under the immigration law of the United States, the Norwegian quota is only a fraction of the number that would like to come here," Anderson said.

"Canada has been quick to see the point," he said, "and has agents in Norway."

For Protection Of Air Pilots

London.—Piracy on the high seas and highway robbery are now things of the past, and air pirates are the danger of today. To meet this new menace, the pilots of bullion-carrying aircraft of the British Imperial Airways Limited are being armed with revolvers.

Forest Fires In Buffalo Reserve

Edmonton.—Fire rangers have been ordered to the Buffalo reserve near Fort Smith where a fierce forest fire is said to be blazing. The herds of wood and plains buffalo maintained there by the Dominion Government face a lean winter if the acres of wild hay are destroyed.

Church Announcements EVANGELICAL NOTES.

The pastor resumed his church work here last Sunday after three weeks absence on vacation with his wife and daughter Hope.

"Holiday Gleanings and Impressions" was the subject of his evening address, given to a good and very attentive audience. The three week's outing among the mountains and at the sea-coast, covering approximately 3000 miles travel by auto proved to be indeed very interesting and recreative as well. But best of all is the fact of a safe return home with renewed vigor for the many pressing demands of service at the post of duty. So the participants report. During their absence Rev. W. Reist of the Mennonite Bible School supplied the pulpit very acceptably.

Watch next week's issue of this paper for announcement of our annual Old People's Service.

Rev. Roppel is spending most of this week and next week at Westcott and Sunnyslope doing some special pastoral work there.

KNOX and WESTCOTT

The Alberta School of Religion for ministers of the United Church is now in session at Mount Royal College, Calgary. The ministers spend three hours each morning under some distinguished teacher. In the evening the sessions are held in Knox Church and open to the public. This Sunday Dr. Harold Hough of Detroit will occupy the pulpit at Central United and Knox Church, Calgary, morning and evening. Then during the week of August 29th, Dr. Hough will give five public lectures in Knox Church, Calgary, one each night. Those of the Didsbury district who are in Calgary either for this Sunday or next week would be well rewarded to hear Dr. Hough.

Mr. Hayes is one of the executive of the school, but on account of the return of the family from Edmonton this week, he will be unable to attend the School until Monday.

With the last week of August upon us, the holiday season is over, and there should be a well-filled Church from now on. Ser-

WALTHER LEAGUERS MEET FOR RALLY

At the Fairgrounds the Lutheran Walther Leaguers of the Calgary Zone met for a rally on Sunday afternoon. Approximately 150 Leaguers and friends were in attendance. Preceding the rally two interesting services were held at the local Baptist Church, in both of which Dr. A. H. Schwermann, President of Concordia College, Edmonton, was the speaker. In addressing the young people, Dr. Schwermann encouraged them "to work while it is day, lest the night cometh, when no man can work." The afternoon was devoted to lawn games and song. A short meeting held at the grounds at five o'clock in which Rev. J. E. Herzer of Calgary reported on the International and District conventions of the Walther League, brought the rally to a successful close. The next zone rally will be held in Calgary in the early weeks of October.

All-Red Cable Route via Pacific Doubled

With the laying of a 70-mile stretch of cable between Bamfield and Alberni, B.C., by the cable ship "Restorer," under charter by the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs, the all-red line Pacific cable service was doubled. The new line is another Canadian Pacific link between Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

The Pacific Cable Board, representative of British, Canadian, Australian and New Zealand governments, laid the cable from Australia to Bamfield, on Vancouver Island, and the line that connects the distant units of the Empire stretches across Canada to Halifax and from there to the heart of the Empire. This is the second all-copper line that has been built by the Canadian Pacific and leased to the Pacific Cable Board.

The last stretch of cable was shipped from England via the Panama Canal some time ago, when it was deemed necessary to cope with the increasing cable business. The cable was in two sections, weighed over 250 tons and was officially inspected and O.K.'d by J. McMillan, general manager of Canadian Pacific Telegraphs, who journeyed to England for that purpose.

The accompanying illustrations were taken during the recent operations. One of the photographs shows the ship "Restorer" lying near the wooded shores of the Island. Off the starboard side and extending into the foreground of the picture can be seen a line of barrels which floats the cable until the time comes to lower that section to the bottom. A smart little settlement has sprung up at Bamfield around the cable station, part of which, with the station, is seen in a view taken from the "Restorer."
